Capture Every Moment

The first precious moments of your newborn's life are some of the most important milestones to photograph. Even though we don't want it to happen, our children grown up right before our eyes. Capturing how little their fingers and toes are, their first expressions, and how tiny they are in your arms will forever live in your hearts.

Why Choose Us?

We schedule 2 hours for your sessions to feed baby, get them nice and sleepy, and have plenty of time to capture all of their first magical moments to cherish forever.

Our photographers are highly trained in newborn photography with plenty of experience handling newborns and making the session a relaxing experience.

We have plenty of props, hats, bows, and blankets for you to choose from. You can also bring in your own props to incorporate into the session to make it more personal.

While we strongly suggest scheduling a viewing session to see your photos with fresh eyes, you can view your photos 30 minutes after your session if you wish.

Preparing For Your Session

- ~ Newborns are best photographed under 10 days old. After baby is born, call to schedule your appointment ASAP.
- ~ Most newborn outfits are either loose or don't fit properly, so we prefer to photograph baby in a diaper or naked. If you would like an outfit, try it on before the session.
- ~ We have plenty of props in studio, but if you have any certain themes or color schemes, let us know when you book your appointment.
- ~ On the day of your appointment, try to keep baby alert and awake 1-2 hours before hand to help baby fall into a deep sleep. This is very important for a smooth session.
- ~ Bring extra outfits for everyone, just in case of messes!
- ~ If you want family pictures during your session, wearing solid black or white is best to keep the focus on baby. Simple is best! Your hands may be in some poses with baby, so make sure your fingernails are clean.

What to Expect During Your Session

- ~ Do not feed baby before leaving for your appointment! Try to wait until you arrive to the studio. We schedule a feeding time into the beginning of your session to get baby calm and sleepy.
- ~ Consider bringing a helping hand with you to the session to make for a smooth appointment.
- ~ To make baby as relaxed as possible, we use heaters, dimmed lights, soothing music, or a heartbeat machine during the session.
- ~ Our photographer have plenty of experience with newborns and you can trust them to take the wheel during the session. We want this experience to be relaxing for everyone.
- ~ Newborn sessions are a lot of work, so we strongly suggest scheduling a viewing appointment to view your photos. This will allow you to come back with fresh eyes and really focus on your photographs.

Tips For Your Session

Before feeding your baby, undress them and loosen their diaper to eliminate clothes and diaper lines. You can wrap them in a blanket and feed them.

Pack pacifiers, extra outfits, burp rags, extra diapers, and extra milk if not breastfeeding.

If you choose to view your photos right after the session, prepare to spend 2-4 hours in studio. This gives us plenty of time for feeding, the session, and picking out your package.

Feel free to bring any sentimental items (Special blankets, name plaque, stuffed animals, family heirlooms, etc) with you to use during the session.

If you have older children, finding a sitter is recommended. This helps keep a calm and quiet environment for everyone. If you are having them join in for pictures bring a second adult who can take them home when they are done with photos. All sibling and family photos are taken first.
